- J. Computerized cost control and inventory management
- K. Project scheduling expertise

Evidence of these abilities shall be provided in the Formal Proposal.

3.2.2 Requirements for Material and Fabrication Services: Applicant companies must be able to engineer, design, fabricate and supply boiler pressure parts as well as provide direct replacement or upgraded components for boilers, environmental control systems and balance of plant equipment. Bidders equipment required to perform these tasks shall be listed in formal proposal.

3.2.2.1 Requirements for Condition Assessment Methodologies: Bidders must be able to apply these General NDE Techniques. Bidders equipment required to perform these tasks shall be listed in formal proposal.

3.2.2.2 Visual Examination - VT The external and internal surfaces and supports of accessible pressure parts will be visually examined for indications of cracking, excessive corrosion or oxidation, distention, vertical or lateral deflection and other forms of distress. The supports and hangers are to be tested to assure they are not unloaded and visually examined to assure they have not experienced undue corrosion. The findings from these observations -including the number, length, orientation, and where possible the depth of any indications found - are to be documented. The main purpose of a thorough visual exam is to identify areas where additional detailed examinations need to be conducted.

3.2.2.3 Magnetic Particle Examination – MT Magnetic particle examinations will be performed for surface discontinuities i.e. indications of cracks caused by weld or material imperfections, fatigue, creep, etc. in the surface of a component. A magnetic field is induced into the part by either yoke or prods. A medium is applied to the part with either wet or dry magnetic particles. This is a high detail, and high production inspection technique.

3.2.2.4 Dye Penetrant Examination - PT Liquid dye penetrant examinations will be performed for surface discontinuities i.e. indications of cracks caused by weld or material imperfections, fatigue, creep, etc. in the surface of a component. This technique is usually reserved for non-magnetic materials or smaller areas of inspection.

3.2.2.5 Dimensional Examination - DT Dimensional examinations are made with a micrometer and/or pi tape to obtain the measurements of diameter (outside or inside). A series of findings over periods of time can permit the amount of strain accumulation to be obtained. The examinations site(s) are to be at already established sites and tolerances are to be documented.

3.2.2.6 Ultrasonic Examination - UT Ultrasonic examination can take a number of different forms and is used to measure the thickness of a component or to examine it volumetrically for discontinuities. A straight beam can be used to measure the thickness of a component and/or an indigenous oxide scale on its internal surface. Angle shear waves, together with a straight beam, can be used to volumetrically examine a component and size flaws or imperfections.

3.2.2.7 Eddy Current - Eddy Current testing utilizes principles of electromagnetic induction to locate near-surface cracks, measure thickness, and categorize certain material properties in metals. An eddy current probe generates a magnetic field that induces currents that flow in a circular path in the test material. Changes in the integrity or thickness of the test piece will in turn affect current flow, the magnetic field, and ultimately the magnitude and phase of the voltage in the coil. The instrument monitors the probe output and displays information for analysis.

3.2.2.8 Material Verification - Weld Verification - WV The location of some girth and longitudinal seam welds may not be readily apparent. A "3-2-1" or dilute acid etch can be used to develop the grain structure of a component facilitating visual identification. The surface of the component must first be prepared by grinding and polishing (to 600 grit) to remove all scale and surface roughening from 1" to 2" wide strips on the component.

3.2.2.9 Metallurgical Analysis – Should subsurface reflectors be found during the UT examinations, material samples may be recommended to further evaluate the weld. The company must be able to perform metallurgical evaluations of the samples.

3.2.2.10 Deposit Accumulation Chemical Assessments - Bidders must be able to perform analysis on deposit accumulations to include:

- A. Internal deposits found in boiler tubes, feedwater heaters, condensers, coolers etc. - internal deposit loading and elemental /molecular composition of deposits
- B. External tube deposits found in boilers, feedwater heaters, condensers, coolers, etc. - external deposit loading, elemental / molecular composition of external deposits
- C. Deposits found on turbine blading, screens, pumps, etc.
- D. Deposits found in deaerators, steam drums, various vessels, piping, etc.

3.2.2.11 Elemental Analysis - energy dispersive spectroscopy (EDS) with light element detection capability, x-ray mapping, wavelength dispersive spectroscopy (WDS) Internal deposit loading in accordance with ASTM D3483.

3.2.2.12 Failure & Root-Cause Analysis – Bidders must be able to perform Root Cause Analysis. The following is a partial list of failure mechanisms that may require failure and / or root-cause analysis:

7.33 Confidential Information:

7.33.1 The University treats Proposals as confidential until after the award is issued. At that time they become subject to disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act. If a Respondent wishes to supply any information, which it believes is exempt from disclosure under the Act, said Respondent should summarize such information in a separate envelope and each page submitted should clearly state "Confidential," but otherwise be presented in the same manner as the Proposal. However, any such information is provided entirely at the Respondent's own risk and the University assumes no liability for any loss or damage which may result from the University's disclosure at any time of any information provided by the Respondent in connection with its proposal.

7.33.2 The proposer and its employees will not disclose information acquired in connection with the performance of services under this agreement which is proprietary or confidential in nature to the University without written permission from the University. This confidentiality will continue to be in effect even after the contract has been completed or terminated for any reason. Some projects may require additional confidentiality documentation or agreements, which will vary according to the University's needs, legal requirements and scope of work.

7.34 Responsibility of Those Performing the Work:

7.34.1 The Proposer shall be responsible for the acts and omissions of all the Proposer's employees, as well as all other persons involved in performing any tasks associated with the provision of the goods and/or services outlined in this RFP by the Proposer.

7.34.2 The Proposer shall at all times enforce strict discipline and good order among the Proposer's employees and shall not employ any unfit person or anyone not skilled in the task assigned.

7.34.3 The contract awardee, when so determined by the University, shall dismiss incompetent or incorrigible employees from the project, and such persons shall be prohibited from returning to the project without written consent of the University.

7.35 Freedom of Information: While the University may be willing to agree not to disclose the information proactively, the University is subject to the Connecticut Freedom of Information Act, found in Chapter 14 of the Connecticut General Statutes, which may require disclosure, should the document be requested with limited exceptions. Two such exceptions that might apply are as follows: (1) Conn. Gen. Stat. sec. 1-210(b)(24) permits the University to withhold records related to the procurement process while bidding and contract negotiations are underway (this moratorium is temporary and lasts only until the contract has been executed or negotiations are abandoned); and Conn. Gen. Stat. sec. 1-210(b)(5) permits the University to withhold records in its possession in the event they contain trade secrets (or really any intellectual property). In the event that the University determines that Conn. Gen. Stat. sec. 1-210(b)(5) may apply to a given request for the records in question, the responsibility to substantiate claims that said would reveal trade secrets and meet the exemption requirements to would need to be borne by the owner of said trade secrets, not the University. Further, if the entity seeking access to the documents challenges the University's withholding of the document, said owner may be required to prove at the Freedom of Information Commission and/or in a Court of Law, that the release of said trade secrets would be harmful to the owner of the intellectual property or properties in question.

- 7.36 Mandatory Affidavits: The Office of Policy and Management has created new ethics forms effective August 1, 2007 to assist executive branch agencies in complying with the State of Connecticut's current contracting requirements, pursuant to the Connecticut General Statutes and Executive Orders of Governor M. Jodi Rell. The University will require the applicable mandatory affidavits to be completed by the Proposer at the time of bid response and contract award. The required affidavits are enclosed as part of this document. Detailed information regarding the requirement of such affidavits can also be found on the Office of Policy and Management website:
http://www.ct.gov/opm/cwp/view.asp?a=2982&q=386038&opmNav_GID=1806
- 7.37 Joint Ventures: Bids submitted by bidders under 'joint venture' arrangements or other multi-party agreements must include a power of attorney delegating authority to one principal with authority to negotiate and execute any/all contract documents resulting from the bid.
- 7.38 Executive Orders of the Governor: The executed contract shall be subject to the provisions of Executive Order No. Three of Governor Thomas J. Meskill, promulgated June 16, 1971, concerning labor employment practices, Executive Order No. Seventeen of Governor Thomas J. Meskill, promulgated February 15, 1973, concerning the listing of employment openings and Executive Order No. Sixteen of Governor John G. Rowland promulgated August 4, 1999, concerning violence in the workplace, all of which are incorporated into and are made a part of the Contract as if they had been fully set forth in it. The Contract may also be subject to Executive Order No. 14 of Governor M. Jodi Rell, promulgated April 17, 2006, concerning procurement of cleaning products and services and to Executive Order No. 49 of Governor Dannel P. Malloy, promulgated May 22, 2015, mandating disclosure of certain gifts to public employees and contributions to certain candidates for office. If Executive Order 14 and/or Executive Order 49 are applicable, they are deemed to be incorporated into and are made a part of the Contract as if they had been fully set forth in it. At the Contractor's request, the University shall provide a copy of these orders to the Contractor.
- 7.39 Ethics and Compliance Reporting/Whistleblower Protection: In accordance with the University's compliance program, the University has in place an anonymous ethics and compliance reporting hotline service – 1-888-685-2637. Any person who is aware of unethical practices, fraud, violation of state laws or regulations or other concerns relating to University policies and procedures can report such matters anonymously. Such persons may also directly contact the University's compliance office at: Office of Audit, Compliance, and Ethics, 9 Walters Avenue, Unit 5084, Storrs, CT 06269-5084; Phone 860-486-4526; Fax 860-486-4527. As a provider of goods and/or services to the University, you are hereby required to notify your employees, as well as any sub-Proposers, who are involved in the implementation of this contract, of this reporting mechanism.

7.40 State Elections Enforcement Commission (SEEC) Requirements: For all State contracts as defined in Public Act 10-1 having a value in a calendar year of $50,000 or more or a combination or series of such agreements or contracts having a value of $100,000 or more, the authorized signatory to this submission expressly acknowledges receipt of the State Elections Enforcement Commission's notice advising state Proposers of state campaign contribution and solicitation prohibitions, and will inform its principals of the contents of the SEEC notice found in UConn Sample Purchasing Agreement attached to this bid solicitation.

7.41 Nondiscrimination Warranties: An executed Nondiscrimination Certification must also be provided by the Proposer at the time of contract execution for all contracts/agreements with corporations and other entities, regardless of type, term, cost or value. The Certification requires the signer to disclose his/her title and certify that the Proposer has in place a properly-adopted policy, which supports the nondiscrimination requirements of Connecticut law. This Certification is required for all original contracts/agreements as well as amendments. The Nondiscrimination Certification forms can be found with the affidavits in this document or at: http://www.ct.gov/opm/cwp/view.asp?a=2982&q=390928&opmNav_GID=1806
